Competition will be open to all, free of expense, and provision has been made for transporting the Ploughs, Ploughmen and Officers of the Institute by the Long Island Railroad free of expense. Some of the papers have mistaken the day: they will please correct the mistake.—It will be on Wednesday. See advertisement.

Mr. William Dishman, a respectable farmer near Lexington, Ky., recently committed suicide by shooting himself with a rifle.

THE KREMLIN DINING SALOONS, 111 Broadway.—We observed an advertisement a few days since for the sale of these beautiful rooms—the reason said to be the proprietor engaging in other business. We wish him success in all his undertakings, for we believe him worthy of it. We, however, have formed an attachment for this lovely spot, and hope that Mr. C.'s successor may do as well in it as he has done. It certainly is a desirable location, and, if well managed, cannot fail of succeeding. It is yet in full blast, and those who have not seen it will find it worth their while to try some of its good things.

The Rainers give another of their sweet Concerts to-night at the Society Library. Since they have been with us they have sung to delighted audiences. They cannot have too much praise.

Decidedly the best attractions in the city are at the American Museum. Performances this afternoon and evening.
