

MRS. J. A. T. MARSTELLER DEAD

616

Mrs. J. A. T. Marsteller, nee Miss Lucy B. Dishman, of King George county, de- parted this life at her home in Sta. Elmo, Va., at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday, November seventh, in her thirty-third year, after a protracted illness. She leaves a devoted husband, four little children, a mother, an aunt and four sisters sorely be- loved. Her life was a benediction to all who were thrown within its sweet and gentle influence. With all that makes life attractive, she was ever mindful of the source of all good, and when the end came was ready and willing to go to her reward. She admonished her loved ones not to grieve, assuring them her lot was to be coveted; and, ostensibly without pain, fell asleep in Jesus' arms.

The Free Lance, Fredericksburg, VA

16 NOV 1905 p 3 c 4