Contests Not As Close As Expected For County Posts

County Voting Sets Record With Nearly 900 Votes Cast

Incumbent candidates won reelection with comparative ease in Tuesday's General Election here in King George County. A record of nearly 900 votes were cast in the county's four precincts. This was more than double the number polled in the August Democratic Primary.

County Treasurer J. Cleveland Grigsby led the ticket with a total of 867 votes.

Commonwealth's Attorney Horace T. Morrison won reelection over Joseph A. Billingsley, Jr., by 644 to 429. Morrison carried all but one precinct and both candidates tied at 141 votes each there (Shiloh).

Sheriff J. S. Dishman carried all precincts with ease against all three of his opponents with one exception. Frank Hudson polled 72 votes in Passapatanzy Precinct as against 64 for Dishman.

In the only other County contest Willard R. Garner won reelection to the County Board of Supervisors over Jack Mason, by 225 to 160.

Candidates and the offices for which they were running were as follows, R. O. Norris, State Senate; C. F. Unruh, House of Delegates; L. B. Mason, County Clerk; Morrison and Billingsley, Commonwealth's Attorney; J. S. Dishman, Frank T. Hudson, Alfred L. Meade and Floyd D. Hudson, Sheriff; J. Cleveland Grigsby, County Treasurer; R. A. Peed, Commissioner of Revenue; Garner, Mason, H. D. Ashton and George C. Grymes, Board of Supervisors; James Gautier and Clyde Suttle, Justice of the Peace. Suttle was a write-in candidate.
